2012 Season Outlook: The sky is the limit for the second year program out of Syracuse, NY. In 2011, the Ogres "organized" the program in less than two weeks. With no true coach, organization, funding, and a roster of first time players the Ogres kicked off against in-state rival Clarkson University without previously ever being in full pads. Lack of coaching and preparation hounded the program the entire season before an amazing home victory over Eastern Connecticut State University proved to all that a successful football program at Onondaga Community College could be possible with hard work and more dedication.

Enter Coach Young and a roster of dedicated newcomers with previous football experience to complement returning All-Conference recipients Natrell Powell and CJ Brooks. The group has been working together since Spring and eager to hit someone new. In an effort to grow the OCC brand and challenge for National Championship consideration the Ogres have taken on top programs in all neighboring regions including Clarkson, Ohio State, and George Mason. To further test their mettle the Ogres will be going outside club competition to take on regional JUCO and NCAA JV programs. With the most difficult schedule in all of club football the Ogres control their own championship destiny.

2012 Season Outlook: After playing an initial 2 game season, Rollins Football is taking on a full schedule. The team has a larger roster than 2011 but depth is still a bit of an issue, however the team is confident that it's first team players can compete with any team in the NCFA, even if the starters on offense are also the starters on defense.
